A Dairy Farmer is someone involved in the production of milk and dairy products from dairy cattle, typically cows. Their primary focus is on the care and management of these animals to optimize milk production. This includes tasks like feeding, milking, health and breeding programs, and maintaining sanitation standards.

Dairy farming requires you to have your finger on the pulse all the time. Any mistake that happens could have an immediate effect on milk production.

Day and night, your cows' well-being is always in the back of your mind. It requires dedication and a love for what you do.

The very best part of dairy farming for me is when you can see and sense that your animals are well-fed, healthy and content. This is obvious from their behaviour and condition and is also seen by the amount and quality of milk they give back. When the tank levels are climbing and the milk quality is excellent, then your dairy farmer can afford a broad smile!

The farmer knows just what to do, for God has given him understanding. ... The Lord of Heaven's Armies is a wonderful teacher and he gives the farmer great wisdom.
— Isaiah 28:26, 29
